Ing his protests in no uncertain tones, and it was all right for Cook to slap the fine on him, which he did. Then Smith, of the Bugs, butted in, and Saker and he had an argument. It did not amount to a whole lot, but the people who sat up in the grandstand wanted something to happen. Out to the ield went about six policemen, the Mayor of this city and a private detective, whose name is Tucker. He grandstand grows and grandstand grows to the players bench.

After it was all over, the umps, who had vented his grievance in fining the players bench.

After it was all over, the umps, who had vented his grievance in fining the player, allowed him to continue, much to the displeasure of the forementationed officials. Be it said to the credit of those having charge of the ball club, that they had no part in all of the wrangling.

Barker Responsible.

Looking back over the game, Barker is directly responsible for it not being down in the won column. His two cerrors were both costly, and resulted in scores, when the side should have been retired easily. All of which goes to prove that a pitcher should not try for too many fielding chances. Me's misjudgment of Bradys My to left in the eighth, also contributed to the run-getting of the local club.

Richmond tapped the run fount in the very first. Baker walked stole second and third, and scored on Me. Cabe's out, second to first.

Two more were dug from the well in the third. Wallace bit for a double to right, went to third on Coggins's fumble of Mex grasscutter, but was caught at the plaze. Me stole second, and Egan walked. Both walked, while Wallace went out Martin getting a life through the choice of Morgan. The bases were full when Mattig delivered to centre, scoring Egan and McCabe. Cowan stopped further bom.

Tars Defeat Shoemakers in Clean Contest by Score of 5 to 4.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Norfolk, Va., May 3.—With chilly blasts sweeping the field before a handful of loyals, with teeth chatter ing, and huddled up beneath coat col-lars, wondering if the gold old sum-mertime and baseball weather will ever come, the Shoemakers and the Tars put up a remarkably clean game this afternoon, superior stick work giving the Tars the victory by the

At the ringing up of the curtain it looked as if the crowd was in for a dose of wild pitching, sandwiched in between errors, and a swattest, a regular baseball benver sandwich. But Finneran settled down quickly, while Hogue was relieved after the fourth inning by Stocksdale, who held the Tars safely.

Lynchburg made a desperate bid for the game in the ninth, but could get only one run across the plate. The score:
